Ex-Mayor Calhoun of Carthage Sued for Damages by Doctor C. F. Edmonston.

Carthage. Mo., July 21.—Just as ex-Mayor W. W. Calheun was stepping on the Frisco train with his family, to be gone on three months' Eastern tour, Deputy Sheriff W. C. Williams served notice upon him that suit had been entered against him for $50,000 damages by Doctor C. F. Edmonston, charging him with allenating his wife's affections.

This suit has been expected, but was precipitated by information reaching the plaintiff's attorneys that the defendant was about to leave the city for the summer. This suit is the outgrowth of a quarrel which led to the arrest of Doctor Edmonston on July 1 charging him with striking Mrs. Appy, his mother-in-law.

M'CREERY FUNERAL SERVICES.

To Be Conducted at Christ Church Cathedral This Morning.

The funeral services of Wayman Crow McCreery, who died at 1:65 o'clock Saturday afternoon at his home, No. 3841 Wester place, will take place at 9 o'clock minster place, will take place at 9 o'clock this morning at Christ Church Cathedral. Dean Carroll M. Davis will conduct the service, which will be according to the Episcopal ritual.

The music will be by the full surpliced choir of the church, of which Mr. McCreery was the tenor, under the direction of the organist, H. H. Darby. The choir will sing "Far From My Heavenly Home," a favorite of Mr. McCreery. He requested, shortly before his death that it be sung at his funeral. The choir will sing but one other selection, "Perfect Peace." A quartet componed of members of the choir will accompany the procession to Bellefontaine Cemetry and will sing "Abide With Me" while the casket is being lowered into the grave. The palibasers will be: David R. Francis, Mayor Rolla Wells, Charles H. Turner, George Wright, George S. McGrew, Halstand Burnet, Harry J. Walker and Franklin I. Ridgeley.

Mr. McCreery's sister, Mrs. George L. Allen, accompanied by her husband arrived yesterday aftersoon from Rye Beach, N. H., where they had gone to spend the summer.

A telegram was sent Saturday to Mr. Mc-Creery's other sister, Mrs. Benjamin Lewis. who is at Wilburton-on-the-Sea, N. J., and an answer was received stating that the condition of her health would not permit her to undertake the long journey home. A cablegram was sent last Thursday to the eldest saughter. Mrs. Oscar Vieths, who was married last May, and who in company with her husband has just completed a tour of the Continent. The message was sent to Lendon, as Mrs. Vieths was then at that point en route home. She does not know of the death of her father, as the cablegram simply stated that he was critically ill.

CHIEF NICHOLSON AND HIS THEORY OF THE CASE.

Defendant Decides to Testify in Own Behalf.

SUMMARY OF THE FOSBURG CASE UP TO DATE.

The trial of Robert Stewart Fosburg, on a charge of killing his sister, May, is begun at Pittsfield, Mass., on Thursday, July 18. The defendant pleads not guilty and sets up as a defense the plea that burglars entered the Fosburg home on the night of the killing, beat defendant and his father and killed the defendant's sister. The State scouts the burglary story, and declares it expects to prove that the defendant killed his sister by accident while quarreling with his father. Witnesses are introduced to show that there were no indications the next morning that burgiars had entered the house or excaped by running across the lawn, the grass on which was heavily laden with dew. The State also at tempts to prove by experts on firearms and others that the pistol with which May Fosburg was killed was owned by Robert Fosburg; that it was held within eight inches of her body, and that the bullet, which penetrated a comb on the bureau in the bedroom where the killing occurred, could not have been fired by the alleged burglars as they were escaping, in the manner described by the defendant. The Court declines to permit the defense to introduce as evidence the opinion rendered by Doctor Paddock, medical examining agent, on the morning after the killing, to the effect that he believed May Fosburg was killed by an unknown masked burgiar. Great interest is manifested in the proceedings, and many per from a distance to attend the trial. The sentiment in the community seems to be against Robert Fosburg. Chief of Police Nicholson, who has been largely instrumental in keeping the prosecution alive, is placed on the stand, but only for a few minutes. The State attempts to prove its case by circumstantial evidence alone. It is learned, with a de-State attempts to prove its case by circumstantial evidence alone. It is learned, with a degree of astonishment, that "Dirty Dick" Quinn, the notorious member of the notorious wire gang, who has been suspected of knowing something about the alleged burglary of the Fosburg home, is in custody and may be introduced in court by the State. Another sensation of the trial is the statement made by Doctor Paddock that Beatrice Fosburg, the defendant's sister, told him she did not see any burglars in the house on the night May was killed. Court adjourns over from Friday evening until Monday morning. It is learned that Mrs. Fosburg, mother of the defendant, will testify in her son's behalf.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Pittsfield, Mass., July 21.—"May, May, oh, May, my daughter, if you could speak only one word to tell the world that your prother is innocent and take from us the terrible weight of trouble that is ours!"

Kneeling by the side of her murdered laughter's grave in the Pittsfield cemetery. Mrs. Robert L. Fosburg, with tears streaming from her eyes, in her anguish brought these words from her heart. They were at the conclusion of a prayer in which Mrs. Fosburg was joined by her daughter's father and Beatrice, her sons James and Robert, the latter's wife, and the family friend and adviser, Judge Seneca N. Taylor.

It was an impressive scene, and seeing it to one could doubt Mrs. Fosburg's sincere belief in the innocence of her son.

The family, as it has done every Sabbath since the tragedy of last August, to-day visited the cemetery. They went in the early morning to escape observation, and for an hour quiet devotional exercises were held by the side of the grave. At the conclusion, the mother was so overcome that it was necessary for her stalwart sons, one on each side, to assist her to the carriage and TESTIFY IN HIS OWN BEHALF. support her on her way home. During the last year, Mrs. Fosburg's hair ing shot his sister. MOTHER SWEARS TO

TRUTH OF HER STORY.
Her will power and determination to give to her son a mother's sympathy brought her back to comparative health. Leaving the cemetery to-day, Mrs. Forburg spoke of these matters: "I have endeavored," she said, "to lead a Christian life. To the best of my ability I have reared my children to walk the same mother led me. That is why we are able to bear up with some fortitude when May's death came upon us so suddenly. I believe that death is only a form of environment. So I have expected to meet my daughter again, and I have been able to give some comfort to my husband and to my children. But I confess that I have no faith that enables me to accept the weight put upon me by the unwarranted prosecution of one whose innocence I know

"This morning as I knelt by the grave of my daughter, it seemed to me that I must call her forth to say the word that no one could doubt. Living as I do, in the fear of God, it seems to me that I would rather forfeit the right to ever see him rather than know that the time will not come when I can be with May, Feeling as I do. I still swear upon her memory that the

She is as she save a Christian and she is of the truest type. Even after the suffering that has been hers during the last year, her husband and her children. Yet she enjoys society and has made hosts of friends in the cities that she has lived in. Her daughter Beatrice, a sweet-faced child of 16 years, is much like Mrs. Fosburg and it is these two who are expected to establish the innocence of Robert Fosburg. In a sense they are opposed to Chief of Police John Nichelson. He has created the case against the defendant now on trial. They are relied upon to tear it down and to show that it was never anything more than a filmey structure. HOW CRIEF HICHOLSON

FRANED HIS THEORY. Had John Micholson been a literary man, instead of a policeman, he would have done well with his theories. Called to the Posburg house an hour after the murder, he was told a story of a burglar, a terrible struggle in the dark and a shot that brought death to an innocent girl. His mind, trained to the fact that his revolver might have been used by the burglara, as it was miss-ing. That furnished an idea, Chief Nicholson eliminated the father from his calcula Leading the Chief of Police to window, Robert Fosburg said:

"I saw burglars jump from this balcony and run across that vacant field."
Chief Nicholson, looking, saw that field covered with dew, no fresh paths leading through it; the glistening webs were updisis a dreamer and it was a dream that he first discarded the theory of burglars. He will make a strong witness, but should the members of the jury be prejudiced, it is not probable that he will create upon them an impression so favorable as that produced by the child, Beatrice, and her gray-haired mother. These two witnesses tell the same story. They will say, "May Fosburg was killed by burglars."

It is difficult to believe that they are lying, and that they made up their story during the first five minutes after the tragedy. In the defense, Chief Nicholson's theory of the cobwebs and the dew will be given contradiction by farmers belonging here in Berkshire County. They will say that in a meadow or open field the path of a fleeing individual would be obliterated in thirty minutes if made while the dew is falling. Made at sunrise, the path would remain until the dew is all obliterated,

The significance of this will be seen when it is remembered that the burglars are supposed to have left the Fosburg house nearly three hours before sunrise.

ROBERT S. FOSBURG WILL

the defense, has been subpoened to give testimony for the prosecution. Mr. Lund, at the time of the tragedy, lived across Dalton avenue, directly opposite the Fosburgs, and he was in the house within five minutes after the fatal shot was fired, being the first to enter.

The attorneys for the defense are puszled to know the meaning of the calling of so many of their witnesses by the District Attorney. Mr. Land now lives in Maynard, 200 miles from here. He would have been here on Tuesday, but at 4 o'clock this morning he was awakened by a process morning he was awarened by a process server, who insisted upon his coming immediately to Pittsfield.

John C. Crosby to-night said that the prosecution to-morrow will plunge into the important features of its case. James Fosburg will be the first witness called to the stand after City Engineer Fobes completes his testimony.

Grand Mass Meeting Held in the Afternoon at Mechanics' Pavilion-League Officers Discuss Meeting.

San Francisco, Cal., July 21.-The religious enthusiasm aroused by the international convention of the Epworth League had its culmination at the grand meeting held this afternoon at Mechanics' Pavilion. About 10,000 persons were in attendance, and not a seat was vacated until the conclusion of the sermon preached by Bishop Joyce, president of the league.

His theme was "Faith in Christ," and no ddress more eloquent or fervent has been heard since the assembling of the conven-tion. At its conclusion the Bishop was tendered an impromptu reception, not being allowed to leave the platform until nearly all the members of the great congregation had grasped his hand.

The influence of the league was not alone felt in the central meeting. All over the city—in the churches of many denomina-tions—services were held, and in every place the ordeal as he and the other members of his family have met the ordeals that have been theirs.

Together They Start Back to New York on the First Train-Alton Young Woman the Complaining Witness.

Masterson of Olean, N. Y., followed her sweetheart 1,000 miles when trouble came upon him and he fell within the tolls of the aw, and furthermore expended several hundred dollars of her own money in securing his release.

The young man is Samuel R. Bowen of Alon, an employe of the big glassworks there, A month ago a charge was lodged against Bowen by an Alton girl. He was located at Olean, N. Y., where he had gone for the summer. Sheriff Hots of Edwardsville got a warrant, and requisition papers were issued from the Governor's office, at Springfield, for the return of the young man to Madison County. The Sheriff went East and

and that she would make the thousand-mile journey to Central Illinois if it were necessary. Miss Nelson agreed to accompany her. It was not merely a sentimental journey with her, but also a business trip, and she provided herself with a certified check for $500. On arriving in Edwardsville she employed attorneys at once, and Saturday afternoon they demanded an immediate hearing. It was granted, and the Justice put Bowen under $500 bond to appear before the Grand Jury. His sweetheart stepped forward and tendered the amount. It was necessary for a citizen to sign the bond, and ex-Mayor John T. Crocker affixed his signature to the document, and the check was deposited in a local bank. Bowen was released at once, and there was a joyful reunion at Hotel Stensel.

"Why, that girl'is one in a thousand," said Bowen. "We have known each other only about two months, but she makes this long trip for my sake, and more than that puts up $500 of her own money to secure my release. There is devotion for you, and I'll tell you I appreciate it."

Bowen said that they were engaged, and that the wedding had been set for fail.

"Under the circumstances, however." he continued, "I think it will be much sooner, possibly as soon as we return."

Bowen learned that there was a train to possibly as soon as we return."

Bowen learned that there was a train to New York a few minutes after midnight, and at 12:30 yesterday morning the trio departed on their return to New York State, all evidently vary happy.

clearing his farm of chinch bugs. A few weeks ago Shake discovered his wheat field was full of the pests, and a few days ago noticed that they were migrating across the land into his 200-acre corn field. He piowed a furrow the length of the land, smoothed it over and run a string or tar thereon. At either end he sunk a large tin receptacle partially filled with coal oil. The tar was renewed twice a day. Shake avers that he cleaned up fifty gallons of the bugs, and that not a one infests his field to-day. Others farmers are trying his method.
